NILSSON AND ALBANI OF FOR HOME.

The first and second engineer's rooms of the steamer Gallia of the Cunard Line were handsomely decorated with flowers yesterday, they having been secured for the use of Madame Albani on her return voyage to England. The rooms are on the starboard side of the chip and are amidships. Madame Albani arrived on the pier at a quarter to 1 o'clock and was at once escorted to her stateroom, where she received a number of her friends with a friendly greeting.
"Ah!" she said, to a TRIBUNE reporter, "you, too, have come to see me off. Am I pleased with my last season ! Yes, more than pleased. My reception by the American people has been more than kind and much better than I anticipated. After arriving in Liverpool I will rest for a while, and in the middle of May I will appear in Covent Garden, in London. In October I will return to America and, under the management of Mr. Mapleson, will appear in various operas at the Academy and else-

At 2 o'clock the steamer swung into the stream, and the steamboat Matteawan, which was to carry friends of Madaine Albant down the bay, followed in her wake. The band on the latter played National airs and the departing songstress, standing on the lower bridge, waved her handkerchief in response to the cheers and greetings of her enthusiastic friends.

Madame Nilsson was also a passenger on the Gallia. Mr. Abbey issued invitations in which it was stated that the tug Vanderhilt would accompany the steamer down the tug Vanderbilt would accompany the steamer down the Bay, in order to enable the friends of Mme. Nilason to wave her a last adieu at the latest moment possible. For some reason this arrangement was not carried out, and a tiny little tug, carrying Mr. Doremus, Mr. Abbey and a few personal friends of the Swedish prima donns, followed the Gallia. Mme. Nilason was dressed in a close-fitting black costume with a touch of crape about it. She carried a large bunch of Jacqueminot roses, the delicate perfume of which she constantly lahaled as she chatted in a lively, cheerful manner.

"I would much rather not talk of business matters just now," she said. "I am almost afraid I have said too much as it is; anyway, I think there has been quite enough printed about my future engagements. I am going to my house in Belgravia, London, fill about June or July, when I shall go to some English watering place for a month or two. I shall return to America in the fail, and hope to be able to spend a little time at Newport before I begin my season. I shall study two new roles while I am taking my holiday, and I assure you I shall not be idle, for I mean to study very hard."

The shore-bell rang, there was a hasty good-by and rush for the gangway, and as the huge steamer slowly drew away from the pier, three hearty cheers were given by the crowdon shore.

EXAMINATION OF A COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

EXAMINATION OF A COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

The first annual public examination of the New-York College of Music was given in Steinway Hall last night. The place was crowded, even the aisles being filled. On the platform were the president, Algernon S. Sullivan; the director, Louis Alexander, and Theodore Thomas, Rafael Joseffy, Edmund Neupert, Pierre Douillet and other members of the faculty. Mr. Sullivan said that the one want felt in the institution was scholarships for aspiring musicians in straitened circumstances, and for aid for this purpose he appealed to the citizens of New-York. The programme was varied, and composed of vocal and instrumental selections by JUDGE DAVIS ON THE DYNAMITE FIENDS.

The Young Men's Hebrew Association held its ninth anniversary celebration last night in Chickering Hall. The president, Samuel Greenbaum, presided. Judge Noah Davis was the principal speaker of the evening. After paying a tribute to the Hebrew citizens of the United States he said :

Your president in introducing me alluded to my speech from this platform last year on the persecutions of the Jews in Russia. I have often thought of the terrible persecutions I spoke of then, but they have never occurred to me more strongly than in the last few days, and I will tell you why. Less than a year ago your co-religionists and countrymen in Russia had inflicted upon them one of the most cruet and unprovoked persecutions of modern times. It is needless to describe it; its terrible crimes and barbarities, its cold-blooded murders are still fresh to your minds. Yet there is not in whole world, so far as I know, any society of Jews organized to revenge those crimes. Not a single Russian official has been since killed by a Jew, nor even had als life threatened by one. All your sufferings have been horne manfully, hereleally and silently, and you have tried only legal means for bettering your Russian countrymen.

"Contrast this conduct with that of that society of flends who now disgrace aboves, and I speak of them to our shores, and I speak of them to you because it is your duty as American citizens to frown down and denounce all their detestable crimes. I tell you the time has come when we maint speak out on this subject. If not legally, we are morally responsible for all the dynamite that is sent to England, for it is all sent by American money. Suppose a man standing one inch this side of the border line between the United States and Canada were to fire a shot that would blow up a Canadian town. Would we not be detested by every one if we allowed such a wretch to remain amongst us? Or suppose it were possible for a man to stand in America and by means of the Atlantic cable cause a dynamite explosion in London. What would be said of us if we permitted the man who touched the spring of that cable to live in New-York! And though we are not as legally we are every with as merally responsible for nortoning the vampires and assassing that now diagrace New-York as we would be if we retained that man; and I tellyed, we and all respectable citizens should make it so warm, by our unceasing denunciation, for these trish vampires that they can so longer hide their cowardly carcasses behind the

DISCORD AMONG THE POLITICIANS. DIVERSE VIEWS ON THE CHARTER AMENDMENTS AND THE AQUEDUCT BILL-EX-MAYOR COOPER ON THE FORMER. BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.

ALBANY, April 18 .- To-day's trains from New York brought many of the leaders of the Demo-cratic organizations of that city. Their move-ments since their arrival have been watched with keen curiosity by the members of the Legislature with keen curiosity by the members of the Legislature form New-York, as it is suspected that they meditate some political action of importance. The County Democracy's leaders did disclose a policy concerning city affairs of some interest. Ex-Controller Green, of their number, appeared before the Senate Committee of Cities and made an argument in favor of giving Commissions. Thompson, of the Densylmant missioner Thorapson, of the Department of Public Works, supervision of the construction of the new aqueduct. As Mr. Thompson is a member of the County Democracy, for Mr. Green's argument are the reasons obvious. Mr. Green also suggested that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment should have control of the reasons for Mr. Green's argument are obvious. Mr. Green also suggested that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment should have control of the money to be expended upon the aqueduct, and that there should be no Aqueduct Commission of private citizens appointed by Mayor Edson. Mr. Green, in fact, would make the Board of Estimate and Apportionment the Aqueduct Commission, with Mr. Thompson as its executive officer.

If the County Democrats thus show a distrust of Mayor Edson they show a confidence in him in another direction superior to that of Tammany Hall. At the meeting of the Assembly Committee on Cities in the evening ex-Mayor Cooper, another of their number, proposed that's Mr. Edson should have the power to appoint, without the confirmation of the Board of Aldermen, Commissioners to each Department board as vacancies occur in these boards. This proposition was between to with darkened browsby Edward Kearney and Edward Cahill, representatives, of Tammany Hall. John J. O'Brion, the chairman of the Republican Central Committee of New-York, who was also present, made no manifestation on the subject. But Mr. Cooper was stoatly supported in thus giving Mayor Edson an inch of power by John E. Develin, the Chairman of the County Democracy General Committee. Mr. Cooper said that he agreed with Mayor Edson on the question of giving him absolute power of appointments, but he disagreed with him as to the advisability of making all the departments single-headed. The Aldermen, he said, have to be consulted and arrangements have to be made to secure confirmation of the Mayor's nominees. Therefore concessions have to be made, and the result is that unsatisfactory men are forced upon the Mayor in order to secure the commissioners, he said, and the Police Department to three Commissioners he said, and the Police Department to three Commissioners on Equipilican and two Democracy and the proposition of Elections from the Police Department. He favored giving the Mayor power to fill vacancies as they would not be even give in F minor (op. 21), the Beethoven-Liszt "Ruins of Athens" fantasia, and five smaller numbers; Mrs. Emil all heads, and allowing his succession in sympathy with him.

Mr. Rosevett asked if a single head would not be preferable for the Park Department.

Mr. Cooper thought as only one was paid it did no harm to have three, and owing to quarrels no one has drawn any salary for several years. He favored triple-heads: Commissions, except the Commission of Paulic Works and the Commission of Street-Cleaning, which should remain single-headed.

Mr. Kearney and Mr. Cahill after the session intimated that taey had very little hope or any caarter amendments being passed for New-York, but said that they thought it best to be in Albany to protect Tammany Had's interests. The impression that the Democratic ractions of New-York will be unable to agree on any cuarter amendments is general. There is also a suspicion arising that no Aqueduct bill will be passed in consequence of a failure of the Democratic leaders to agree on the diffusion of the spoils. Since Mayor Eason amended the bill so as to provide for a majority of tax-papers in the Aqueduct Commission, the politicans have anown a very languid interest in the scheme. In order to disarm possible Republican hostility to the bill in its present shape it is proposed now that two Republican Commissioners be named in the bill. Some county Democracy leaders propose that the commission shall consist of the Board of Apportionment and two Republican citizens to be named in the bill. This, they think, would insure Republican support of the bill in the Legislature. eaded. Mr. Kearney and Mr. Cabiil after the session intimated

ATTACKS ON THE STATE PRISON SYSTEM THE BUTTS BILL FOREIDDING FURTHER CONTRACTS PASSES THE ASSEMBLY-THE VOIE IN DETAIL. FROM THE REGULAR CORRESPONDENT OF THE TRIBUNE.]

ALBANY, April 18 .- Thirty-five years ago there was an outery by demagogues that the convicts in the State prisons were by their labor competing with "honest laborers" outside of the p-isons. A remedy "honest laborers" outside of the prisons. A remedy for the eril, it was said, would be found in the State itself ming the contractor and manufacturing articles for the benefit of the worked disustrously and finally culminated if. the State's expending $500,000 yearly in maintaining the prisons. Now the Democratio party proposes to repeat the experiment. The prisons have become self-sustaining through the adoption of the contract system. Last year the expenses of the State prisons were $800,000. The Democratic party would take the risk of shifting this aum upon the taxpayers of the State.

Mr. Butte's bill, which was passed by the Assembly today, forbids the making of any further contracts for the labor of the convicts after the present contracts expire. For the contract system he substitutes the old State employment system. The State is to employ the convicts in manufacturing articles which are afterward to be sold at market rates for the benefit of the State. But the bill is ostensibly drawn to lessen the competition of the convicts with workingmen. In order to accomplish this purpose the officers of the prisons are, as it were, gagged and bound. They are required to consult with outside manufacturers about the prices of manufactured articles and in no case are allowed to sell articles manufactured in the prisons at a higher rate than they are sold outside of the prisons at a higher rate than they are sold outside of the prisons at a higher rate than they are sold outside of the prisons at a higher rate than they are sold outside of the prison officials by entering the prisons and learning the prison officials by entering the prisons and learning the cost of prison-made articles. Every impediment to making the prisons self-sustaining is thrust into the bill. There was naturally a long debate in the Assembly over such a measure. Mr. Clapp, of Clinton County, dexterously led the Republican opposition to the bill. He induced the unsuspicious Democratisto load down the bill with an amendment providing that the act should also apply to "penitentiaries." It is expected that the adoption of this amendment will bring to Albany in a failer of excitement and anger the Democratic officials who control the penitentiaries of Kings, Onondaga and Eric counties. Mr. Clapp also endeavored to include reformatories in the list, but here he was headed off by Ernatus Brooks, who carried a motion expressly exempting reformatories and asyloms for juvenile delinquents from the provisions of the bill. Debate then followed on the general merits of the bill. Mr. Keyes, the Democratic canirman of the State Prison Committee, warned his Democratic associates that they were mairing a dankerous experiment, and declared boidly that the bill so heaventy four Assemblymen who voted for the bill only four were Republicans; Measts, of Buffalo. The forty-four Assemblymen who voted for the bill only four were Republicans. Measts, of Buffalo. The forty-four Assemblymen who voted for the bill only four were Republicans. MEASURES BEFORE BOTH HOUSES. POLICEMEN'S SALARIES-THE NIAGARA PALLS PARK

BILL-OTHER MEASURES. FROM THE REGULAR CORRESPONDENT OF THE THIBUNE. ALBANY, April 18 .- The Senate passed this morning without debate, as though it were a bill of trivial importance, Assemblyman Onkley's $750,000 levy on the taxpayers of New-York; his bill increasing the salaries of the policemen and firemen of the city to $1,200 yearly. It was passed by a vote of 19 to 4. All of the New-York Senators present, Browning, Daly, Fitzgerald, Grady, Koch and Treanor, voted for the bill. As for the country Seraters, it was a matter that did not concern them.

The bill appropriating $10,000 to make preliminary surveys for a State Park about Niagara Falls was passed by the Senate by a vote of 19 to 10. For an hour and a half before the passage of the bill Senator Grady made speech after speech in support of amendments intended to defeat the bill. His argument was solely that this appropriation might lead to a still larger one. Then without winking the Senator voted away $750,000 of the money of the tax-payers of New-York, by giving bill authorizing the election of three transcess of the college.

The Assembly at its afternoon session debated and ordered to a third reading Mr. Keyes's General Street Railroad bill. Upon motion of Mr. Keyes an amendment was made to the bill exempting Broadway below Fourteenth-8t. and Flifth-ave. New-York, from its provisions. Mr. Crane, of New-York, stated that the bill in its present form had the approval of the Mayor, the Controller and the Corporation Counsel of that city. One of the sections of the bill requires the companies organized under it to pay 3 per cent on their gross receipts for five years after their organization to the authorities of the cities crossed by their tracks, and 5 per cent on their gross receipts after that term.

The Assembly ordered to a third reading this afternoon without debate the Senate bill appropriating $1,000,000 to carry on work on the new Capitol.

In the Senate this moraing the bill to provide for the extension of Flatush-ave. Brooklyn, was reported from the Cities Coumittee. Mr. Russell explained the bill and moved to order it printed and to a third reading with the intention of allowing full consideration. Messrs. Kirrana, Jacobs and Daly favored a recommittal of the bill for a hearing. The motion to recommit was carried by a vote of 13 to 11, despite Mr. Russell's efforts.

The Senate to day confirmed the Governor's nonlinear for State Assessors.

When the bill to permit aliens to become trustees of guarantee and trust companies in this State came up for pussage in the Senate to-day, Mr. Jacons opposed it on the ground that it was simply intended to permit Sir Edward A. Archibald, or many years British Consul in New-York, to become president of a New-York company.

After some debate the bill was lost, yeas 16, mays 12.

Senators Grady and Treanor attempted to secure a favorable report on the Broadway Underground Railway bill from the Committee on Cities to-day, but their associates on the committee, Messrs. Daly and F. Lansing, voted against the motion.

THE HEALTH BOARD DEPRECATES CHANGE

The Health Commissioners yesterday wrote to the Assembly Committee on Cities that neither of them could spend the time to appear before the commit tee. The letter sketched the varied duties and responsi bilities of the Health Department, and said that two done; and that the association with them of the President of the Board of Police and the Health Officer of the Port had always been of great advantage, and at times was absolutely essential. Any change in the present organization of the Department, therefore, was earnestly deprecated.

A two-thirds vote was required to pass the bill.

THE TEACHERS' PENSION BILL

Sir: At a meeting of teachers on Monday evening some points were elicited with regard to the so-called Teachers' Pension bill which may be of interest to my fellow-teachers, and I should therefore esteem it a favor if you would allow me to state them. Frishee, one of the committee promoting the bill, our thanks are due for the very frank and good-tempered way in which he responded to the severe catechising he received. From his answers and the remarks made on them we gleaned a number of conclusions. I may remark before stating these, however, that the meeting consisted of many of the best known and most-respected of our teachers interested in

It is in itself a remarkable comment on the manage ment of the promoters of this bill that we were obliged to obtain this information in such a manner and at such a time in the history of the measure. The conclusion we reached were as follows:

we reached were as follows:

(1) That no experts in assurance business and only one lawyer of note had been consulted regarding its provisions and possibilities.

(2) That teachers not belonging to the Teachers' Association were supposed to be represented on the committee by a gen-isman appointed by the rest of the committee and not elected by the parties to be represented.

(3) That no public meeting of teachers was called to consider the subject, but that meetings were held to which principals and vice-principals likely to be first benefited by the bill were invited, while those who were to provide the bulk of the funds were omitted from the invitation.

invitation.

(4) That the only notice of the provisions of the bill that was youchsafed to the teachers generally, was sent round to the schools with a petition to be signed virtually only a day or two before the bill was submitted for action

only a day or two before the bill was similar to action in Albany.

(5) That the committee having this business in hand involving such important financial interests, could not afford time to direct 3,000 envelopes, or flad $30 to pay the necessary postage.

(6) That therefore even these late notices were sent in the mass to the various achools to be distributed or not and in the way they night see fit, by the principals.

(7) That is some achools the petitions were sent round to be signed in school hours, when no time was given to the signers to consider the nature of the bill and its provisions.

the signers to consider the signers of the petition on discov-visions.

(9) That many of the signers of the petition on discov-ering the true conracter of the bill wished to withdraw their signatures and protest against it.

(9) That the bill passed to the second reading before the signatures to the petition had been presented in the Legislature.

(10) That one of the most important clauses of the bill reads so that the teachers and the members of the com-mittee present put diametrically opposite meanings upon it.

Is it to be wondered that the teachers present almo unanimously decided to oppose a bill so carelessly prepared and so improperly manipulated ! They, moreover, elt that it was clearly a case of attempted "faxation without representation." It is mossible, naverse that without representation." It is possible, however, that the promoters of the bill may have taken much useless trouble in rearing their little bantling thus for, as, if it be true to at its essential clause is unconstitutions, it cau-not hope to survive even without our protest. A POINTED REPLY TO JUDGE LAWRENCE.

To the Editor of The Tribune. SIR: Since the decision of Mr. Justice Lawrence sustaining the motion made by the attorneys for the defendants to dismiss the complaint in the case of Yates against Stiles, I have received a number of latters, stare of them anenymous, but all taking me to task for bringing this action and not appealing from the decision of the motion made in Onondaga County to vacate the judement. In each instance I have received with the letters a slip cut from a newspaper, being the language used by Judge Lawrence, which is as follows:

It appears that since the alleged discovery of fraud, alleged to have been perpetrated upon the plantiff, she made an application to set saids the judgment to the supreme Court of the control of the complaint must be dismissed.

As this language, used from the bench, to the minds of the unbuttated would maturally induce the beiter that I had committed gross error in bringing this action, and as I think a judge should be preity sure of his law before he undertakes to criticuse counsel in such a manner as did Judge Lawrence, I desire, for the sake of those who are interested in the case as well as for myself, to direct attention to the language of Judge Earl in the Court of Appeals in the case of Scirantia against the Dry Book Saviogs Bank, argued in 1981, and reported in the 66 N. Y., particularly on page 295:

But the claim is further made that the plaintiff is concluded by the order and payment under it, because whe made a motion to set saids the judgment against he husband and all the proceedings under it and falled, her husband and all the proceedings under it and falled, her husband and all the proceedings under it and falled, her husband and all the proceedings under it and falled, her husband and the industrial it does not appear upon what ground her motion was denied. It does not appear upon what proceeding thereon. But in any ovent, her unsuccessful motion to wants and set aside the proceedings could not make them binding upon her. It left licen where they were before, with the same force they before had and no more.

I haye felt called upon to criticise the law laid down to be under the same force they before had and no more.

I have felt called upon to criticise the law laid down by Jung: Lawrence, not so much on account of his mis-statement of the law, for all lawyers and Judges are apt to make mistakes, but because he unnecessarily stepped side to criticise my proceedings.

THE IRISH AND THE POLICE RETURNS. To the Editor of The Tribune. Sin: In The Tribune of March 22 I found a were represented, and guests were also present from pullated by ex-Governor Hartrantt, Colector Robertson, George Folicit and others. Louis P. Sibert returned the thanks of the retiring gentlemen to the assembly.

Sir: In The Tribune of March 22 I found a communication from one "K.," who in his yearnings to defend the Irish from charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct, so numerously registered by the Police Department, not only accuses that department of being moverney of belief, but attempts to accuse the department of being moverney of belief, but attempts to accuse the communication from one "K.," who in his yearnings to defend the Irish from charges of drunkenness and discommunication from one "K.," who in his yearnings to defend the Irish from charges of drunkenness and discommunication from one "K.," who in his yearnings to defend the Irish from charges of drunkenness and discommunication from one "K.," who in his yearnings to defend the Irish from charges of drunkenness and discommunication from one "K.," who in his yearnings to defend the Irish from charges of drunkenness and discommunication from one "K.," who in his yearnings to defend the Irish from charges of drunkenness and discommunication from one "K.," who in his yearnings to defend the Irish from charges of drunkenness and discommunication from one "K.," who in his yearnings to defend the Irish from charges of drunkenness and discommunication from one "K.," who in his yearnings to defend the Irish from charges of drunkenness and discommunication from one "K.," who in his yearnings to defend the Irish from charges of drunkenness and discommunication from one "K.," who in his yearnings to defend the Irish from charges of drunkenness and discommunication from one "K.," who in his yearnings to defend the Irish from charges of drunkenness and discommunication from one "K.," who in his yearnings to defend the Irish from charges of drunkenness and discommunication from the Irish from charges of drunkenness and discommunication from the Irish fro inhabitants of Vermont, Massachusetts and Virginia. Does "K." not know that one or two swallows do no make a summer! Neither one nor two cases such as he states prove what he wishes the public to believe, viz ; that a large portion of those arrested for drunkennes and disorderly conduct, and registered on the police books as Irish, are not Irish at all, but genu cans from "the provinces," who in their thirst after knowledge, and in the exuberance of their spirits, occasionally visit the metropolis to diagnose the metropoli sionally visit the metropolis to diagnose the metropolitan elephant, and as a usual consequence bring up at one of the police courts.

Now, having been connected with the metropolitan police force for a number of years, in the Fourth, Ninth and Nineteenth Precinets, I assert, without fear of contradiction, that where one American so far forgets his manhood as to deny his country and claim Ireland as his birthplace, at least one hundred Irishmen claim the United States as their place of nutrivity. I lare withnessed, time and again, at various police courts, Irishmen giving "Amirica" as their place of birth, and when asked if they mean the United States would reply, "Yis." One can safely allot ninety-nine of every hundred who use those and kindred pronunciations as being genuine sons of the "audi soci." The statement of "K." is c'mply too thin, too "utterly utter," for sane people to believe.

NOT A "REPAIRER OF WATCHES."

To the Editor of The Tribune. Sin: In your issue of April 3, under "Topics of Three Cines," dated Boston, March 31, I find the statement that my brother, N. A. Plympton, Governor Butler's nominee for Insurance Commissouer, is " at present a small repairer of watches and ewelry in Worcester." If this were a fact I should not object to its publication ; but while I expect no exemption for my brother from the treatment given by news paper correspondents to every man whose name appears in connection with a possible office, I am not able to se anything so belittling to him as a business man without at least asking a correction of the erroneous statement The correspondence should have read "at present general agent for New England of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, with his office for the past year in the Old State House, Bostov, rass." If your courtesy is equal to such a demand you will enable a Republican reader to enjoy The TRIBUNE, and greatly oblige yours very truly. Albany, April 16, 1883.

COQUETTING AND COEDUCATION. To the Editor of The Tribune.

SIR: If the friends of coeducation were in need of arguments just now, which happily they are not, no atronger one could be offered than the pittable con dirion of the student who signs himself "F. F. F." in Friday's SEMI-WEEKLY TRIDUNE. It is a practical illustration of the necessity for the refining and enachling influence of woman in our colleges to prevent a further propagation of that concelled booriahuess so prevalent in some colleges. Evidently his supreme conception of a young lady atudent is one who spends her time coquetting within "Rissing distance," siren-like, to draw innocent, susceptible lads like himself from their duties. But I will venture the opinion that he is not and never will be will venture the opinion that he is not and never will be distracted by the sweet and pretty, nor annoyed even by the usir. Such young men seldom are. That is what's the matter with them. It was my good fortune to attend college where young ladies were admitted on an equal footing with the gentlemen; and I can assure this artent young misogynist that nine out of ten students are not averse to coeducation, nor are a majority. If he will apend more of his time acquiring information and less puriting up bars to keep it out, his statements will abound more in accuracies.

WOMAN AS A DISTURBING ELEMENT. To the Editor of The Tribune. Sin: What was the old time "fine gold?"

Woman was to have no ideas of her own; the lords of creation were to think for her. As for the pretty young lady within kissing distance, distracting "F. F. F. F.'s" mind: After he leaves college, will he not meet her in the street-care, at the concert, in his office, or in his store, where perhaps she is a co-worker. It he does not learn in his youth that woman is on an equality with him, and not made to boy to his severeirn pleasure, he will discover his mistake too late. God designed woman to be man's companion throughout life. Isn't it contrary to reason to suppose that at a cartein period in a man's life woman is a disturbing element?
